LOYOLA PLAY A 30 GAME SCHEDULE

This year the Loyola of Montreal's basketball team will play a tough 30 game schedule, which will feature two international tournaments, a Christmas journey to New York City and hosting a Canadian Western team for the first time. In announcing the schedule Head Coach Doug Daigneault also confirmed the appointment of Alex Siderenko as his assistant for the upcoming campaign.

Improvement on their non conference record will come the hard way for Coach Daigneault has lined up some strong competition for his Warriors. The Loyola Warriors open their season on November 14th when a strong University of Manitoba team invade the wigwam for the first time.

The weekend of November 14th will see the Warriors journey to Acadia University in a tournament that will also include two American teams. On December 16th Loyola travels to New York to take on two excellent opponents in C.W. Post and Adelphi University. A week later the Warriors host their Annual Centennial Tournament which will include last year's winner, Brandeis University. After the Christmas break the Warriors will travel to the nation's capital for a game against their great rival, Carleton University.

The Loyola Warriors will also be out to defend the league title and the Coup de Quebec championship. In league competition, the Cagers have an unblemished 29-0 record over the past two years, and another successful year is anticipated.

Leading an impressive list of returnees are All-Canadian 6'5" centre John McAuliffe, Loyola's athlete of the year, Jack Contos and Earl Lewis who is one of the most gifted and exciting ballplayers Eastern Canada has seen. Other boys who should enjoy a fine season are outstanding guard Tom Profenno, juniors Jerry Walsh, Jim Ivy, Ron McAllister and sophomores ~~WARUEY~~ Kessler and Dave Burke.
